

How do I play a game?

As the top-ranked games-for-prizes web site, iwin.com allows you to play games for free and to win unique prizes at no cost to you. We have so many games here that you'll think you died and went to game heaven. We have games in all categories, including trivia games, card games, casino games, arcade-style games, strategy games, games of chance, and puzzles.

You may play many of our games without registering with us, but if you did that, we might have to tell our in-house psychiatrist about you, because you'd be playing for nothing. You'd be missing out on the chance to earn the iCoins that you need to enter our prize drawings. So, to avoid getting listed on the Shrink Patrol, make sure that you register {create a link at word "register" to the registration page} before you start playing games. Registering is completely free, and it is the only way you'll be able to access all of our site's features and make yourself eligible to receive valuable prizes. After all, how else are we going to know where to send that big check, or that new computer, or any one of a thousand other prizes which you could win?

To play a game:

- 1) Go to the Games section of our site by clicking on the Games tab.

[insert screen capture of the Games tab]

On the Games home page, you'll see a listing of game categories (as well as individual game titles) that will look something like this:

[insert screen capture of the list of current games on the Games Home page, featuring the More Games section.]

In the "More Games" section on the Games page, click on a category to see a listing of games, along with some description about each one.

If the name of the game is already listed on the Games home page, you could click on its name to go directly to that game.

[insert a screen capture of one of the categories, let's say Arcade.]

At a game category's page, click on the game you want to play.

[insert screen capture of the Arcade games]

A game window will open up, and the images and program instructions you need will be downloaded to your computer.

[insert screen capture of a freshly opened Game window, in which it says that "Images are being loaded" and the green download progress gauge is partially completed]

Please be patient while the game downloads to your computer. Download times for games will vary according to the speed of your computer, the speed of your Internet connection, the amount of traffic on the Internet at the time of your download, and the complexity of the game's imagery.

After the game loads, click anywhere in the game window to start a new game, or follow the instructions in your game window to begin.

[insert screen capture of a completely downloaded Game window, for instance, RATRACE, in which it says that "Click anywhere to start a new game. Use the arrow keys to guide your rodent." Current screen instructions lack punctuation; while not critical here, it does help to use periods to end sentences.]

Once you begin playing, you're on your own as to how much fun you have and how loud you laugh. We did include a Mute button to stifle the game sounds, but we can't help you if you squeal so loudly that your co-workers wonder how you could be having such a good time at work. And, just in case your boss lurks too near, you can always hit the PANIC button to instantly blanket your monitor with something that resembles doing productive work for your employer.

Don't blame us, though, if you lose your job for playing iwin.com games at work. We have no booby prizes for those of you who don't know to goof off without get caught.

When you are done playing a game, click on the Cash Out button to get credit for the iCoins you've earned, based on your score.

=====